I want to join Tensor webops team because I think TenSCI will play a huge role in the future of Tensors. One of the source of income for Tensors right now is through conducting mock tests and providing JOSAA counselling. But nowadays many institutes themselves conduct online tests which leads to decrease in registration for the Tensors mock test series and that will affect the generation of funds.

The scopes for TenSCI however, is increasing. Since TenSCI has already done couple of projects, It will be easier to build from there and make it the main source of income for tensors.

What makes Tensors webops team different is that it will have a higher impact in the betterment of society(Eg: MP Portal created by TenSCI team) compared to the other Webops teams which are basically for serving that particular team's needs.

Also, already being a part of tensors , I have experienced that it is easier to communicate and execute your ideas in tensors compared to other teams in insti where the Cores have the final say.
